INBLOCK

by TODOMUTA

The Inblock collection, with a coffee table and a side table, is the result of an exercise that aims to provide dynamism to the materiality through a game of horizontal displacements of the elements that shape the pieces. The construction of the tables is based on the occupation of the void with solid volumes of American walnut, crowned with a metal slab that embraces part of the set. The purity of their materials gives the pieces a classic spirit that contrasts with their ludic nature.

TODOMUTA

About

Seville-based Spanish firm formed by Laura Molina and Sergio Herrera, dedicated to the research and exploration of the boundaries between art, design and avant-garde craftsmanship. The studio takes aspects from disciplines such as archeology and anthropology, as well as from nature itself, to create an aesthetic of sophisticated character, visible in all the objects they design. Their creations oscillate between the utilitarian and the sculptural, unique or limited edition pieces, manufactured under processes based on experimentation with traditional craft methods, to which they attach a contemporary perspective in order to incorporate the use of the resources offered by new technologies.
